Under the G O* of 5th March 1899, the allowances were 'personal'* in both the colleges By the G O* of 30th March 1908, they were converted into 'local' allowances Mr Tait was appointed Principal by Notif= dated 27th March 08, with effect, however, from 23rd April 08, the date of Mr Cook's retirement Mr Denham became principal from 1st July 1910

The distinction between the two cases was briefly explained in the G O of 1st Dec 1910 which was passed on the representation of Mr Denham Secretary)

Mr Denham joined Service on 13-2-1894 and so he has put in 17 years Service - His Service for 3 years under Madras Govt will also count for his pension Here He has been drawing Rs 1,000 from February 1914.

To Mr. L

13 Oct 8th July 1911 Mr Denham completed his 17 years service On this service he has had 2 yrs 12 days fmlo' including hard service he has put in 20 years service and will Count 2 years 9 hrs fmlo' also of Special and Hard - What I the Govt the next year can they safely assume he will have full 20 years of service. Hrs average Emoluments will be 1000 as he has been drawing it for 2 yrs and his max pension for 20 yrs service is 4000 per annum or 333 1/3 per mensem, as the max pension in his case is 5000 Rs per annum 20 hrs of 1000 = 333 1/3 and it will therefore make no difference whether the 4 hrs 200 which are not full or local allce

15 Reference is invited to the discussions in Edn File 2340/09 Part B for June 10 in regard to the nature of the Principal's allowance under the Go of March 1908. The order of December 1910 declared beyond doubt that the allce was a local allce

16 The note of the Asst Secy Br 4 on page 5 supra will show that the nature of the allowance will make no difference to Mr Denham in the matter of his pension.

A 17 It will make a difference in regard to the Family Remittance, the limit of which is half the Salary, as a local allce is not reckoned as part of a person's Salary.

Obn 15/5/11 (18) The date of the Govr. appointing Mr. Dart as Principal was 27 Mar 1908, though the appointment took effect from 23 Apr 1908. The order of Govt under which the Principal's allce was made local is dated 30 March 1908 Govt did not alter the nature of the allce when passing the order of appointment & so it was decided that the allce was 'personal' in the same sense as Mr. Cook's.

19 Mr. Denham is not right in saying that any invidious distinction has been made against him. He was distinctly junior to me but when the order of 30.3.1908 was passed and had no expectation of being made Principal. If his claim is to be admitted as just, it would mean that Govt has no liberty to alter scales of pay once fixed, or that a case has to be persistently put forward to be recognised, whatever its merits may be.

20 The only thing to be said for Mr Denham is that he is an able, conscientious and enthusiastic Govt Officer, and if Govt is inclined to grant the concession on this express ground I am in-

as desired in the Dewans note of 29th ult - my opinion is that Mr Denham is not entitled to have the local allowance treated as personal allce But the same may be allowed as an act of grace on the part of H H the Maharaja on personal grounds & in consideration of Mr Denhams good work as Professor and Principal It should however be made clear that this is not to serve as a precedent

From,

Thomas Denham,
Principal,
Maharaja's College,

To,

The Inspector General of Education,
Bangalore

Sir,

I have the honour to ask that the Government will be pleased to make my allowance as Principal a Personal one as was the case with Mr Weir, my predecessor Like Mr Weir, I have put in twenty years' work including my three years' service in Madras which the Mysore Government took over when I was appointed Professor of History in 1894 I am aware now that a rule making the allowance a Local one was passed on 30th March, 1908 and I can understand such Rule being applied to those newly or recently entering the service But I think it rather hard that such Rule should be applied to one who had put in so many years' service as I had when I was appointed to the Principalship of the Maharaja's College

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

(Sd) Thomas Denham,
